ABSTRACT

In the late 60's the global demand for oil & gas professionals began to take on a new dimension – a culmination of the efforts by the early adventurers in the late 1800's and early 1900's overseas.

2003 more than 100 years later – it's become a norm yet there are many who are unaware of the benefits and shortfalls of “thinking global” – its simply not just money.

While we live and operate in a dynamic political environment that changes the landscape every month – it is prudent as with any decision in life to make an informed decision when crossing borders to globalize your career.
